

HOTEL MAN SALKS AT BANK INQUIRY

Offers Typewritten Statement,
but Won't Be Sworn in Brooklyn Case.

Deputy Bank Superintendent Graham's efforts to bring before him John Hill, proprietor of the Clarendon Hotel, Brooklyn, to testify as to what he knows of the affairs of the defunct Borough Bank of Brooklyn resulted in another fizzle to-day. Hill appeared before the inquiry several days ago, but when told that what he would say might be used against him he left the witness stand and refused to return.

Mr. Graham had a subpoena issued for Hill, and to-day this hotel proprietor appeared at the hearing accompanied by a new lawyer, Moses J. Greenman. Hill was called to the stand, but refused to be sworn. He offered Mr. Graham a typewritten paper which he said contained everything he had to tell concerning the notes found at the Borough Bank signed by various employees of the Clarendon Hotel.

Hill then started from the room but Attorney Jeremiah T. Mahoney, conducting the examination of witnesses, enclined him in a heated argument. Mahoney demanded that Hill take the stand. The hotel man hotly refused. The situation grew so tense that Attorneys abandoned his efforts to advise him to Hill and left the room in high dudgeon. A few moments later Hill stalled out also.

Mr. Graham continued the examination of other witnesses, but he declared he would make a decisive test of the question whether or not Hill could ignore a Banking Department subpoena without incurring a charge of contempt of court.

YONKERS SEEKS NEW YORK
AID TO BREAK UP RIVER ICE.

Federal Government Has No Boats Available and Industries Are Paralyzed.

Report to the House of Reps. by Senator O'Gorman. Major League of this city will confer with Major Gaynor of New York as to the possibility of securing tugs or cutters from the harbor or rivers of Great or New York to break up the ice in the Hudson from New York to Yonkers.

With the river closed, Yonkers industries are on the verge of shutting down. The coal supply is running short. Louis Spreckels, head of the Federal Sugar Refinery, said today that half a million dollars is lost annually in Yonkers by the sinking of boats by the great ice floes and the closing of industries along the water front.

Major Lennon and Mr. Spreckels appealed to the Federal Government and were told that boats were not available for ice breaking. It was suggested by Senator O'Gorman that New York City might have boats available.

Charities Lose Fortune by Hours.
Because Mrs. Bernhardt Koch of No. 27 Manhattan Avenue, Brooklyn, lived an hour longer than her husband, who died Dec. 7 last, several Brooklyn charities and institutions have given $1,000 to the Kochs in memory of his wife if she survived him. The relatives of the couple have now been interviewed. The will was filed in the Surrogate's office today.
